MESSAGE from THE DEAN

On behalf of the Department of Interdisciplinary Studies and the College of Arts & Sciences, I am pleased to congratulate you on the academic achievements being commemorated today.

You have worked hard to reach this milestone, and we are honored to rejoice together with you and your family and friends.

You have prepared to face the complex issues of our world, and we trust that you'll be Champions for Christ in your vocations and callings. As you go forth, remember to seek wisdom from our eternal God, the source of all truth and understanding. We are so proud of you, and we pray that God will bless you with strength and guidance as you glorify Him and serve others.

God bless you!

Dr. Roger Schultz
